Recycling Technology to Rebuild our community and Restore hope for our future

The Recycle Rebuild Restore Project is a not-for-profit program designed to help improve the local community by providing job skills training, technology recycling and technology based assistance to low income families and the organizations that serve them.

How it works:

1. Businesses and individuals donated their outdated or unwanted computers and related technology devices to the Recycle Rebuild Restore project through participating agencies.
2. The equipment is cleaned, and refurbished into usable systems by individuals who are learning a job skill in the tech field under the supervision of trained professionals.
3. Items that are unusable will be recycled with the proceeds of the recycling used to offset the cost of any new parts required for a project.
4. Refurbished systems are offered to low income individuals at the out of pocket cost of the repair.
5. General public and non-profit organizations can purchase refurbished systems at Fair Market Value.
6. Participating agencies can purchase "Certified" Refurbished Computer Systems for use or resale at their locations at the out of pocket cost for the repairs.
7. Disadvantaged Families with children who need a computer system for their home can sign-up or be recommended by an agency to receive a free computer system based on need and availability.

Advantages: Provides needed job skills for those trying to improve themselves. Rebuilds our communities by opening up job opportunities that are only accessible through the use of technology. Restores our world by reducing landfill waste and pollution caused by the improper disposal of technology equipment. Instills hope for our future by providing low income families with the equipment their children need to be functional in today's world.
